CONSEQUENCES FOR DRESS CODE VIOLATIONS

If a student is found to be out of dress code, the student will be directed to go to the principal's office. An administrator will review the dress code with the student. If the dress code violation can be corrected, the student will do so immediately and return to class. If the violation is not able to be corrected, the student will call parent/guardian to explain the violation and ask that an acceptable replacement be brought to school to correct the violation. The student will then wait in the library until the violation is corrected or the school day ends. Interpretation of the dress code is under the discretion of the administration.
